when someone abuses something, it's a mental health issue most often, and almost everyone has a little of something we found that males oriented towards air currents carrying female odours but females did not orient towards odours emitted by adults i'm one of 28 students, and a mere six of the others are catalan